This Institution is pleasantly located in the village of Cummington, on the stage road from Boston to Albany, about 19 miles from Northampton, and 22 miles from Pittsfield.

The Instructor, Mr. Thomas R. Rawson, is a graduate of Amherst College, a gentleman of reputed piety, talents, and activity, who it is believed will employ his utmost efforts to facilitate the studies of his pupils.

Tuition is $3,00 per quarter for the English branches, and $3,50 for Latin and Greek.

Students may enter at any time most convenient to themselves, and will be required to pay only for the weeks they attend.

Each term continues eleven weeks, and closes with a public examination on Tuesday.

The Spring term will commence on the first Wednesday of March, and the others on the first Wednesday of each succeeding quarter of the year.

The books used in this Institution are the same as in other Academies, whether English, Latin, or Greek.

Compositions are required once in two weeks, and specimens of composition will be exhibited at the public examination. Exercises in Speaking will also be required every Wednesday.

Special attention will be given to those who wish to qualify themselves for teaching schools, particularly during the fall term.

Regard will be had to the morals of all the students, especially to those who are placed under the immediate care of the Principal.

Board may be obtained in good families at One Dollar per week.

Anna Dawes was named for Louisa; but in young womanhood decided to be known as Anna Laurens; not Anna Louisa.)
